DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. The restriction requirement has been withdrawn and all claims are rejoined and have been examined.

Priority

2. Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for priority under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) based upon an application filed in Japan on 8/31/2001. A claim for priority under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) cannot be based on said application, since the United States application was filed more than twelve months thereafter. Also, applicant has not filed a certified copy of the JP 2001-264385 application as required by 35 U.S.C. 119(b).

Claim Objections

3. Claim 17 is objected to because of the following informalities: It is unclear whether the laminate or the prepreg is being claimed (a laminate formed by laminating a metallic foil). Clarification is requested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Application/Control Number: 10/789,914 Page 3

Art Unit: 1714

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 3-5, 9-10, 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hosomi (US 5,976,699).

Hosomi discloses an adhesive that is coated on a metallic foil which is part of a circuit board (col 6, lines 57-63). The composition contains (a) a bisphenol type epoxy resin or phenoxy resin having a MW of at least 10,000; (b) a bisphenol type epoxy resin having an epoxy equivalent of not more than 500; and (c) an epoxy resin curing agent (col 2, lines 33-44). In Example 1, the (b) epoxy resin has a MW of 380. Filler such as silica and calcium carbonate are added in an amount of less than 40 wt% of the composition (col 4, lines 34-43).

It is to be noted that a preamble is generally not accorded any patentable weight where it merely recites the purpose of a process or the intended use of a structure, and where the body of the claim does not depend on the preamble for completeness but, instead, the process steps or structural limitations are able to stand alone. See In re Hirao, 535 F.2d 67, 190 USPQ 15 (CCPA 1976) and Kropa v. Robie, 187 F.2d 150, 152, 88 USPQ 478, 481 (CCPA 1951).

Thus. Hosomi anticipates the cited claims.

5. Claims 1-13 and 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Yabuki (JP 2003-206360), wherein a computer generated translation is used hereafter.

Application/Control Number: 10/789,914

Art Unit: 1714

Yabuki discloses a prepreg composition containing a cyanate resin, particularly novolak type cyanate resin, with a MW of 500-4500 (para 10, 20), a phenolic resin with a MW of 400-18,000 (para 12-15), an inorganic filler such as silica with a particle diameter of 0.2-2 microns in an amount of 40 to 70 wt% (para 16-17). Curing agents including organic acids (which would be liquid at room temperature) are used (para 24). The resin impregnates a base material such as non-woven fibers (para 25-28) or glass (para 16, 47). A metallic foil is laminated with the prepreg and used in a printed circuit (para 30) in semiconductor applications (para 2-4). It is processed by heating under pressure (para 53). A biphenyl dimethylene type phenol resin is added, which would have a moisture absorption lower than the thermosetting resins (para 32).

Thus, Yabuki anticipates the cited claims.

6. Claims 1, 3, 13, 15, 17, 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sakai (JP 2002-172736).

Sakai discloses a metal foil clad laminated sheet using prepregs formed by impregnating a glass nonwoven fabric with a thermosetting resin (abstract). The laminate is formed by pressurized heating (claim 1). The thermosetting resin includes (a) an epoxy resin with a MW greater than 5,000, particularly 5,000 to 50,000; (b) an epoxy resin with a MW of less than 5,000; and (c) a curing agent (claim 2; para 5). The prepreg is used in printed circuits (para 10). Fillers such as bulking agents, colorants, antioxidants may be added (para 33).

Thus, Sakai anticipates the cited claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Sakai (JP 2002-172736) or Yabuki (JP 2003-206360) or Hosomi (US 5,976,699).

The discussion with respect to Sakai or Yabuki or Hosomi in the paragraphs above are incorporated herein by reference.

Although the above references are silent with respect to the reaction rate of the compositions, the applications and compositions therein are substantially similar to the currently claimed composition, thus it is examiner's position that although it is not specifically recited, the compositions in the above references would nonetheless inherently meet the requirements for the currently claimed reaction rate, or alternatively, would obviously have been present in the Sakai or Yabuki or Hosomi products, absent evidence to the contrary.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

JP 2002-020461 discloses an epoxy resin composition used as a prepreg to provide a base for an IC package, the composition containing (a) a novolak type epoxy resin, (b) a second epoxy resin, (c) a phenolic type curing agent, (d) 9,10-dihydro-9-oxa-10-phophaphenanthene-10-oxide, and (e) an inorganic filler (abstract). Between 10 and 50 wt% inorganic filler is used, particularly fused silica with a mean particle diameter of less than 1 micron (para 9).
